DRY GOODS DEPARTMENT.

Stock Fair Tuesday.

Tuesday, Feb. 11, that's the date of the next stock fair, west side. Grand Rapids, Wis. Manager Bill says it will be the biggest one of the season. Hopes that there will be buyers for all kinds of horses. A touch of the heavens will not cut any ice if the horses are in good condition and weigh from 1050 pounds up. There are also a number of people who want a No. 1 milch cow and several of these will find a ready sale. Chickens and young pigs are also in demand. Remember the date, Tuesday, February 11, and don't forget that it is going to be the biggest thing of the kind this season. The Grand Rapids Brewing company will give an eighth of beer to the person bringing in the largest number of empty kegs. Joe Monahan will give an eighth of beer for the best sample of early rose potatoes, not less than one peck. Ben Hansen judges.

Was After the Bounty.

A man presented himself before County Clerk Davis on Tuesday with a sack full of English sparrows, birds that he had killed, on which he wanted the bounty. There is a bounty of four cents each on English sparrows and this man thought that all he had to do was to appear before the county clerk with his proofs and get his money. The county clerk, however, sent him to Mayor Wheeler as the proper officer to interview in such emergencies and the mayor thought he was being humiliated, but after looking the matter up the man was paid the bounty and went his way. It seems that the law specifically states in matters of this kind that the chairman of the town or the president of the village shall be the person to pay such bounties out of the town or village funds and later bring in the bill to the county. In view of the wording of the law it was decided that the mayor was the proper man to attend to the matter.

City Council in Session.

At the council meeting last night there was quite a discussion over the appearance of the city clock since it was "fixed." Alderman Nissen wanted the old dial put back into place, and several of the aldermen wanted some sort of a change. The matter was left to a committee. The matter of establishing fire limits was laid over until the next meeting of the council. A petition was presented which asked that the taxes be levied for a term of five years on the improvements of a certain malicous iron company which proposes to locate here. The matter was laid over until the next meeting.

The salary of the city treasurer was fixed at $600 instead of being under the fee system as heretofore. This means a considerable reduction in the salary.

The salary of the city teamsters was raised from $70 to $80 per month. The stone crusher was sold for $250 to Wm. Wallace. There was considerable discussion about the matter and several votes against the sale.

Attorney Goggin appeared before the council on behalf of the Centralia Pulp and Water Power company asking that certain concessions be made the company in regard to taxes. As the matter involved lengthy argument on both sides no attempt will be made to give it here. No action was taken on the matter.

An adjournment was taken for one week only, as there were several matters that need attention before the regular meeting time.

Death of Mrs. Flanagan.

Mrs. Mary J. Flanagan, wife of Patrick Flanagan of Vesper, died Monday morning after a lengthy illness from asthma and heart trouble. Deceased was 69 years of age, having been born in Milwaukee on the 17th of January, 1839. She has been a resident of Vesper during the past twenty years. She is survived by her husband, three sons and a daughter, the latter being John, Patrick, Edward and Nellie.

The remains will be brought to this city by rail Thursday morning.

A genuine dramatic treat is promised the patrons of The Grand when Arthur C. Alston's company will present "At the Old Cross Roads" Thursday evening, Feb. 6th. This play has been one of the most remarkable successes of the past six seasons, having been acted in every house to coast, and in every case received by a large audience, which tested the capacity of the theatres. The engagements at the Grand Opera House, N. Y. will "look" like a reminder of the annuals of that house as the house auditorium was packed during each engagement, and packed to its utmost capacity, and the amount of money drawn as a record breaker even for that theatre which is a house noted for its enormous receipts. The play is conceded by all to be one of the best stories of Southern life given to the stage in recent years. Each character is drawn with a master hand, and the plot of the play unfolds a deeply interesting and probable story. The company is a very strong one and contains many of the original cast. Special scenic effects are carried for the production.

Mrs. Matt Carey spent Sunday in Tomah. The guest of Mrs. D. M. O'Brien.

Mrs. John Powers of LaCrosse is in the city the guest of Mrs. H. C. McCann.

TWO LIVES LOST.

Dr. Charles Pomainville and Miss Martha Gussman are Dead from Gasoline Explosion.

One of the most horrible accidents that has ever occurred in this city happened at an early hour Sunday morning, and as the result two people lost their lives, the victims being Miss Martha Gussman, of Stevens Point, who was a domestic in the family of Dr. and Mrs. Pomainville, and Dr. Pomainville himself. The trouble was brought about by an explosion of gasoline in the kitchen which enveloped the girl in flames, and in attempting to save the girl's life the doctor was so badly burned that he died the following morning, the girl having passed away about one o'clock on Sunday.

Just how the fire started in the morning is not known, as there was nobody with the girl when the accident happened, nor were any of the other members of the household about. It is known, however, that the girl, who had been a member of the family for only about a week, got up Sunday morning about six o'clock to start a fire and get breakfast. It is also known that she had gasoline to start the fire and that an explosion followed, but it is not known whether she did it thru ignorance, or purposely. It is supposed, however, that she was under the impression that she was using kerosene, and that there were some coals in the stove at the time, which generated a gas and caused a violent explosion which probably threw the burning fluid over the girl's clothes and enveloped her in flame.

After this the girl ran screaming to the bedroom where Mr. and Mrs. Pomainville were in bed, and Mr. Pomainville jumped from bed and attempted to smother the flames with some of the bedclothes. In this he was unsuccessful, and realizing that he was not making any headway he grabbed the girl up and carried her out of doors where he rolled her in the snow and extinguished the flames. In the meantime the doctor's own night clothes had been afire, but in the excitement and effort to save the girl he had not paid much attention to himself until after the flames about her had been extinguished, when he rolled in the snow and put out the fire in his own clothes. By this time, however, there was but very little of the night robe left on him, and he had sustained severe burns.

Another domestic of the household had in the meantime appeared on the scene but was unable to do anything much. Mrs. Pomainville and their baby girl was gotten out of the house as soon as possible and taken across the street, where the Gussman girl and Mr. Pomainville were also taken. Physicians were summoned as hurriedly as possible and the sufferers given every attention, but it was seen at once that the girl could not recover, as the skin had been destroyed over almost her entire body, and the best that the physicians could do was to alleviate her sufferings somewhat until she had died, which occurred about one o'clock in the afternoon.

News of the fire spread rapidly and it was known thruout the city that the girl had been burned beyond possible recovery, but Mr. Pomainville's many friends hoped that he was going to pull thru all right, even the attending physicians did not hold out much hope, and it was consequently a great shock when the report was circulated on Monday morning that the doctor had died during the night, having passed away about three o'clock in the morning.

The flames at the house were extinguished by the fire department, it having responded promptly to the alarm sent in, and the damage there was not so very great from the fire, although everything was soaked with water and badly damaged in this way.

Dr. Pomainville, who was 29 years of age, is survived by his wife and baby girl, the latter being only a few weeks old. His mother, Mrs. Caroline Pomainville, also resides at the homestead in this city. Charles was born and reared in this city and has lived here all his life with the exception of the time he was away studying dentistry in Chicago. For the past eight years he has been practicing his profession in this city, during which time he had built up a lucrative practice and made many friends who will miss him in the business life of the city. He was a member of the Elks, Modern Woodmen of America, Catholic Order of Foresters and the Knights of Columbus.

The funeral occurred this morning from the Catholic church in this city. Rev. Reding officiating, the remains being laid at rest in Calvary cemetery. The body of Miss Gussman was shipped to Stevens Point near which city her parents reside. Very little is known of her, as she had been here only a short time, having been at the Pomainville home only about a week.

The body was taken to Braun's undertaking rooms and prepared for burial, but thru some mistake the wrong parties were notified near Stevens Point, but when the man and his wife came here they discovered that it was not their daughter. Later her relatives were communicated with and the body was shipped on Tuesday afternoon.

Kenneth McCamley left on Tuesday for Milwaukee to attend the hardware dealers convention.

Concert Well Received.

A large crowd turned out on Thursday evening to hear the concert given by the Grand Rapids band. The program was made up of rather a lighter class of music than has been usual in the past, the only music that made any pretense to high class music being the selection from R. Schumann's "Gloria," but in spite of this the audience seemed well pleased with the different numbers, and they were all handled very nicely.

The concert given by Prof. Bliss and Louis Poyrus was handled very nicely and was a very pretty number. Our local band certainly has more talent in the cornet section than is generally found in an amateur organization.

Prof. Bliss' new march "Down the Line" was rendered in public for the first time and it is a good march with lots of brilliancy and a very pretty melody running thru it. James Lucier rendered a tuba solo "Down in the Deep," and played for an encore, "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," both of which were handled very nicely.

"A Night's Frolic" was on the descriptive order and was helped out by a vocal quartet behind the scenes. This was also well received by the audience.

The next concert will be given some time during the latter part of February and the boys will probably give a dance afterward.

Famous Woman to Lecture.

The Women's Federated clubs of this city have secured Miss Jane Addams of Hull House for a lecture at the Grand Opera house on the evening of February 7th. Miss Addams and her work are well known by all thinking people in this country. Everybody who possibly can should avail themselves of this unusual opportunity to hear one of the most celebrated women of our time. Tickets can be procured and reserved at Daly's and Church's drugstores.

Receiver is Discharged.

Stevens Point Journal—Walker Bros. and Paul Summers, co-partners, doing business under the firm name of the Bancroft Store Co., who recently went into the hands of a receiver, have arrived at an amicable agreement and the receiver has been discharged. Mr. Summers has resumed business, which will be continued by Walker's Bros.

A gang of workmen are now at work fixing up the rooms of Judge Webb at the court house. An attorney's room will also be furnished up in presentable shape at the same time. As these apartments have heretofore pressed a very bare condition there is a whole lot of room for improvement and they should present a very different appearance when completed.

Martin Housen of Minneapolis is in the city the guest of his brother, Dr. O. T. Housen. The former has been suffering from ptomaine poisoning and is receiving medical treatment here.

Clifford Duffin, the fast first baseman who played with the home team the past two seasons, has been signed by the Wausau state league team. Clifford is a promising ball player and should have no trouble in making good with the Wausau bunch.

Cashier Earle Pease, who has been in Chicago for some time past where he underwent an operation, is reported to be getting along nicely and is expected home before long.

Charles F. Beck of Wausau was in the city on Tuesday he being the administrator in the Adolph Salzman estate, which was settled up in the county court on that day.

Will Have a Spell of Weather.

The weather maps posted up in our post-office, show each day the location of all of the storm centers throughout the United States. These storm centers are marked by the word "LOW" and their path as they pass across the country from west to east is usually marked by a fall of rain or snow in front of them according to the season; but they always give at least cloudy weather. Over a considerable area in the vicinity of a "LOW" all the winds blow more or less toward the "LOW" and as it passes eastward it gives mild weather on its southerly side, and cold weather on its northerly side.

During the months of October and November last, the principal "LOW" areas traveled far north of their usual course, most of the principal ones passing north of Lake Superior. And they continued to do this up to the beginning of winter, and under the belief that they would continue to do so far into the winter we predicted an "open winter."

We wish to state now that this tendency continued as we predicted up to about ten days ago but for more than a week past the storm centers of "LOWS" are running close to their usual winter courses and we predict now that our so called open winter is at an end, and we can look for the usual amount of snow and cold weather for the rest of the winter.

Making it a Party Issue.

We understand that some of the republicans of the city are intending to run a party candidate for mayor this spring, as well as a full set of city officers and attempt to elect them on a party ticket.

We do not know how this will strike the general public, but last week we had an interview with Mr. Fred Norton, the east side hardware man, and upon asking him if it were true that he was seeking the nomination for mayor, he said that he was not spending any great amount of money at the present time, nor did he intend to invest a great deal in the campaign. He said that he thought everybody in town knew him, which is undoubtedly a fact, and that if they wanted to vote for him that they could do so without being braced up with beer and cigars. We will try to keep our readers informed as to the latest developments along political lines.

Marshallfield Boys Win.

Lovers of basketball witnessed one of the best games that has ever been played in this city last Friday evening, when the team from Marshallfield and the local team met at the Lincoln gymnasium.

Many had feared that the locals would not show up very strong against the Marshallfield team, but in this they were most egregiously surprised as it was a close contest from start to finish, and there was one time when our boys were considerably ahead.

Both teams did some nice team work and notwithstanding the fact that the score was 26 to 22 in favor of Marshallfield, the large crowd in attendance was well satisfied with the game.

The lineup of the two teams was as follows:
Grand Rapids center Marshallfield
Brownan right Krolin
Crown right Fabo

Beet Wins Another.

Fred Beal wrestled with Frank Steiner, the Belgian Lion, on Friday night in Chicago and downed the Belgian two straight falls. The newspaper reports say that Steiner weighed more than Beal and that Beal had a hard time to down him, but admit that there was no time when the Belgian stood any chance of winning.

Next Friday Beal will wrestle with Gatch in Chicago.

 Post masters all over the country are warning patrons of rural routes not to put loose change into the mail boxes for the rural carrier, but to buy a supply of stamps and keep them on hand. It is considered enough if the rural carrier delivers the mail without having to dig pennies out of the bottom of a mail box on a morning when it is several degrees below zero and there is a twenty-five mile drive ahead.
 Jacob Winger resumed his work last week as bridge carpenter for the St. Paul road after being laid up several days as the result of a fall from a flat car. Mr. Winger is very lucky in escaping more serious injury, and it was only through his presence of mind that he jumped from the side of the car instead of going over the end when he tripped. As the car was in motion a fall onto the track would have proven serious.
